PRISONER CAUGHT AFTER BAY ESCAPE

Police on Friday afternoon recapture 35-year-old Justin Fucich, who had allegedly escaped rather than entering a Hancock County Jail transport van after an appearance in Bay St. Louis Municipal Court. Bay St. Louis schools went on lockdown after the escape.

BY GEOFF BELCHER NEWS EDITOR

Bay High School, Bay Middle and North Bay Elementary were briefly on lock-down on Friday after a Hancock County Jail prisoner escaped from a transport van outside Bay St. Louis Municipal Court. "We had to hide under our desks for, like, two hours," a North Bay Elementary student said Friday. "It was very scary." Hancock County Sheriff's Office CID Commander Glenn Grannan said that Justin Fucich, 35, "broke and ran" while being loaded back into the sheriff's transport van after an appearance in municipal court Friday. "He attempted to hide, but he didn't have anywhere to go," Grannan said. "I guess he was at large for about an hour" before he was recaptured. "On (Friday) at approximately 11:30 a.m., Fucich was being transported from Bay St. Louis City Court located at 598 Main Street back to the Hancock County Jail along with several other prisoners when he was able to escape undetected by the transporting officer," Bay St. Louis Police Chief Gary Ponthieux said in a press release. "Fucich was dressed in an orange jumpsuit and was handcuffed at the time. "The police department soon received a call that an inmate was seen fleeing on foot in the area of the Third Base Lounge located at 809 Highway 90. The Bay St.

Federal lawsuit claims deputies held Latino family illegally

Southern Poverty Law Ctr. alleges Hancock officers 'racially profiled' plaintiffs

BY GEOFF BELCHER NEWS EDITOR

The Southern Poverty Law Center on Wednesday filed a federal lawsuit against Hancock County and five sheriff's deputies on behalf of members of a Latino and Native American family living in South Carolina who claim they were unlawfully detained last year while on a family vacation due to racial profiling. The suit names deputies Milton Aric Latschar, Abe Long, William Covington and two deputies identified only as "John Doe #1" and "John Doe #2" as defendants, along with the county. According to the suit, on June 3, 2017, "Marcos and Stephanie Martinez and their (three) minor children were unlawfully stopped by defendant Milton Aric Latschar," a Hancock sheriff's deputy, while driving through Hancock County on their way to see relatives in Mexico. "Upon stopping the Martinez family," according to the suit, defendant Latschar immediately asked whether the occupants of the vehicle were U.S. citizens. He then confiscated the U.S. pass-

Bay eyes new bond issue for road work

BY STACEY CATO CONTRIBUTING WRITER

City leaders say a new year may bring major new improvements for the city of Bay St. Louis and its residents, but it could cost taxpayers. At Tuesday night's Bay St. Louis city council meeting, officials spoke about the possibility of a new bond to help cover the cost of some future projects, including additional road work and a major have not yet put figures on it, but we are looking into the possibility of further funding to help move our city forward." Favre said most of the road work needed is primarily in Ward 6, but the city also plans to complete other road projects throughout the city. "We would like to try to complete any roadwork and paving that wasn't completed with money from the last road and bridge bond issued," Favre said. Waveland Board of Aldermen eyes possibly condemning delinquent, unsafe properties

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE STAFF WRITER

The city of Waveland's Board of Mayor and Aldermen on Tuesday hosted three public hearings and handled routine items. The first hearing was for 555 Brown Ave. Owner Josh Garcia was present for the meeting. Waveland's Building Inspector Josh Hayes said the property had a dilapidated open structure, unsafe entryway, broken windows and parts of the roof falling away. The property is also overgrown, he added. Hayes said he also informed the owner that since the property is located in a flood zone, he would need to check into FEMA's 50 percent rule before completing any more repairs. Hayes said that since Garcia received notice of the hearing, he replaced the doors, changed some windows and cleaned outside.

However, Hayes added that he issued a stop-work order since a permit had not been pulled. Garcia said that the property had been broken into before and he wanted to secure the structure quickly. The board did not declare the property a public menace, thereby allowing the owner to obtain a permit, explore the 50 percent rule and complete the repairs. The board also hosted a hearing for the property at 518 Turner St.

Hayes told the board that the property is overgrown and that there are "inoperable and unlicensed vehicles" on the property. Hayes said a written letter was delivered to property owner Ken Huffaker on Sept. 14, to which he received no response. Since that letter, Hayes said, he noticed a "little improvement" on the side of the property. City attorney Rachel

YOUNG EAGLES: Aviation in Diamondhead

DH Experimental Aircraft Association 479 flies AFJROTC cadets

SEA COAST ECHO

Last Saturday, the pilots from the Diamondhead Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA 479) flew Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFJROTC) cadets from Bay St Louis, Pass Christian, St Martin and Vancleave.

“These high school students were provided this opportunity through the EAA Young Eagles program,” Ed Butler, Bureau Director for the Mississippi Department of Education said.

According to the EAA website, the Young Eagles program has dedicated more than 25 years to giving youths ages 8-17 their first free rides in an airplane. The purpose of this unique program is to introduce and inspire children in the world of aviation.

“The EAA has flown 2,127,028 Young Eagles since 1992,” Butler said. “Burl Nelson and his fellow EAA members made a profound impact on these young cadets. Over half of them had never flown in any type of aircraft before Saturday.”

doesn’t end with orientation flights, Butler said.

“Each Young Eagle is provided with a log book to record all future flights,” he said. “Each log book has a code that will allow them to take free online lessons to help them to prepare for their private pilot exams. Additionally, for the last several years, EAA 479 and Spirit of Hope have donated $13,000 per year to help Mississippi JROTC cadets attend the six-day National Flight Academy (NFA) program at Naval Air Station Pensacola, Fla.

According to the NFA website, the NFA provides “an exciting and immersive learning adventure aboard the world’s largest simulated aircraft carrier. While serving aboard the Ambition, these young AXP’s (Ambition eXperimental Pilots) are assigned missions which will require them to work as a team while utilizing STEM skills to successfully complete the mission.

Seeing first-hand how these STEM concepts that they study in high school are used in the real world (relevance) inspires a renewed passion for learning.”

Butler said JROTC

focuses on two key areas: (1) developing citizens of character and (2) college & career readiness.

“Not only did these cadets learn from highly experienced aviators,” he said, “they also learned about another possible career—firefighter. The Diamondhead Fire Department came out to the airport to brief the cadets on their training and experience as a firefighter. The cadets got to try on the protective gear, use extinguishers to put out different types of fires, and check out the fire trucks.

“These 25 high school students had an outstanding college and career readiness experience last Saturday thanks to EAA 479 and the Diamondhead Fire Department.”

The students also got the opportunity to speak with firefighters from the Diamondhead Fire Department.

The tangled road of marriage and divorce

With a roughly 50 percent chance of failure, it is common knowledge that married life is the most difficult vocation of all, given the tough task assigned in Genesis 2:24 that “the two shall become one flesh.”

Since half of all marriages are not made in heaven, not equally yoked, it is very unpleasant and, where there is hostility, sometimes dangerous for many married couples to remain together.

It was against this backdrop that friend Art Magaldi, analyst/debater and unofficial spokesman for the laity, expressed his reflections on July 29 past:

Father L., I'm not responding to the current piece, but I would like your opinion on the Church ruling that divorced and remarried Catholics cannot receive the Eucharist.

I'm opposed to this prohibition because it seems to put these people in a perpetual state which for practical purposes approaches excommunication. They cannot actually undo the situation which they admittedly caused. Are they to repudiate the present spouse (and possibly children) to return to the former spouse because they want to be Catholics in good standing? I think we realize that that choice is not really a viable one. So what is the point of punishing/banishing them forever?

Wouldn't it be better for the institutional Church to say that they have broken an important directive of the Lord, and God will decide their fate on an individual basis? This is, of course, what will happen ultimately. I know that they are living in a state of sin, but there really is no way out of it.

It doesn't seem to me that Jesus intended sinners to languish in this excluded state forever. How about if they confessed their sin and expressed sorrow for their mistake, saying, in effect, “I'm sorry I made this poor choice and did

Alzheimer's Awareness Month: Family caregivers play critical role

We are all too familiar with the debilitating effects of Alzheimer's disease. We know the disruption that its symptoms of progressive forgetfulness and confusion, leading eventually to helplessness, can cause in daily lives, and the major challenge we still face in finding a cure. Alzheimer's remains 100 percent fatal.

Not to be overlooked, however, is the profound impact that Alzheimer's disease has on entire families. Loved ones not only have to bear painful witness to their family member slipping away, but they also often carry the weight of arranging assisted living and special care. Alongside the serious emotional toll is a tough financial reality, in which families endure years of additional costs or are forced to leave the workforce to provide the extra care themselves.

Billions of Hours Devoted to Care

This month is an opportunity to shine light on the devotion displayed day in and day out by family caregivers, who often deal with their own health issues as they try to take care of their loved ones. According to the Alzheimer's Association, there are more than 16 million caregivers in the United States who lend billions of hours to those suffering from Alzheimer's or other dementias. Fittingly, November is recognized as both National Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month and National Family Caregivers Month. The two are closely intertwined.

In 2015, I authored the “EUREKA Act” to help accelerate federal efforts to treat and cure Alzheimer's disease. That law, which supports the development of prize competitions for research breakthroughs, is also aimed at helping caregivers. Earlier this year, a EUREKA competition was launched by the National Institute on Aging at the National Institutes of Health calling on innovators to come up with technology-driven improvements in patient care.

Efforts to Strengthen Caregiver Support and Training

Lawmakers have followed the “EUREKA Act” with other legislative initiatives that focus on critical outreach to caregivers. One of these bills would support a nationwide infrastructure for understanding and treating Alzheimer's disease. That infrastructure would include new centers of excellence and state public health departments to help identify caregivers' unique needs. Another bill would encourage more comprehensive strategies for managing a patient's care over time as well as innovative ways to deliver caregiver support and training. I am a cosponsor of both of these bills and hope to see their passage in the Senate soon. In the executive branch, training for caregivers has been a priority of both the Health Resources and Services Administration and the Administration for Community Living.

These efforts coincide with support for strong research funding. Congress was successful in increasing funding for Alzheimer's research this year, exceeding the $2 billion in funding put forward as a goal by the “National Plan to Address Alzheimer's Disease.”

Taking an aggressive approach to Alzheimer's care is necessary. Alzheimer's affects an estimated 5.7 million Americans. With Thanksgiving around the corner and the time this season affords us with our loved ones, it seems especially appropriate to extend our gratitude to the many people who are helping us in the fight against Alzheimer's.

Proper disposal of deer carcasses

With the passing of each year, there appears to be an increasing number of deer carcasses appearing on roadsides and in streams or rivers. These dumping practices are not only illegal, but unsightly and unhealthy.

I am an avid hunter and spend most of my working days trying to further the sport of hunting and the conservation of the natural resources of our state and our nation. But not everyone feels like I do. Some spend as much, or more, time trying to outlaw hunting as I do trying to further it. While I totally disagree with those in our society with such beliefs, we as a group of hunters, should not do things to further the cause of the anti-hunting public, or give those that are indifferent about hunting, a reason to oppose it.

Conservation CORNER

by James L. Cummins, Wildlife Mississippi

In other words, we should not spread the byproduct, or the carcass, of a successful hunt in areas where other people have to view it or in areas that could cause a public health issue.

There is already a law prohibiting such activity. Section 97-15-29 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 prohibits the dumping of dead fish and wildlife, their parts, or waste on Mississippi's roadways or their right-of-ways or on private property without the landowner's consent. If caught, an offender can be charged with a misdemeanor and fined up to $250. Dead deer on the side of the road can be a hazard to drivers. In some instances, they could cause some serious damage to a car, or injury to the driver.

Deer carcasses dumped in streams and rivers can pose a human health risk. This risk comes from the drinking and/or swimming in waters contaminated by decomposing deer carcasses. Roadsides, streams and rivers are not options. Two recommended methods of disposal are digging a pit in which to place the carcass or taking it to a deer processor who will properly dispose of or compost it.

This is legal and respectful to the sport. And if you can't do that, place the carcass in an area where it cannot be viewed and it is not near any homes. It won't take long for the coyotes and buzzards to salvage the rest of it.

Anyone who finds a deer carcass on his property is obligated to clean it up and report it to law enforcement agencies. Please take time for appropriate carcass disposal.

To report a violation, call your sheriff's office or the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries, and Parks at 1-800-BE-SMART (1.800.237.6278).

NIKKI MOON, OWNER OF BAY TOWN INN IN OLD TOWN BAY ST. LOUIS, WILL HOST "HIGH FIVE FOR KIDS" THIS FRIDAY TO RAISE FUNDS FOR THE BRENDA'S HOUSE EMERGENCY SHELTER FOR CHILDREN.

‘High Five for Kids’ postponed until today

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The “High Five For Kids” fundraiser, originally scheduled for Friday, has been postponed until today, Saturday, from 6-9 p.m. at the Bay Town Inn.

Nikki Moon, owner of the Bay Town Inn Bed & Breakfast in Bay St. Louis, has invited the community to help her celebrate five years of being back in business with a poolside fundraiser for Brenda’s House -- right after enjoying the Second Saturday Artwalk in Old Town Bay St. Louis.

Katrina virtually destroyed the inn on Aug. 29, 2005. Moon reopened it after a years-long effort on Sept. 20, 2013.

She said recently she wanted to turn the five year grand “birthday” celebration into something special, a fundraiser for Brenda’s House, Hancock County’s emergency shelter for children.

The High Five for Kids is scheduled from 6-9 p.m. today, poolside at the Bay Town Inn, 208 N. Beach Blvd.

The cost is $25 per ticket and will include food, wine and beer from local vendors; a silent auction; and live music by the Dave Mayley Band.

For tickets or for more information, stop by the Bay Town Inn; e-mail nikki@baytowninn.com; or call 504-421-0960.

Reflection

not follow your directive, Lord. I know I am not entitled to this second husband/wife, but here I am and I still want to be close to you; I still want to receive you and be a part of you through the Eucharist.” The teachings of Jesus are all about forgiveness. So why can’t they be forgiven and be reincorporated into the Church?

This exclusionary ruling has the effect of driving the divorced and remarried away from the Church. Is this what Jesus intended? This ruling really means that all sins can be forgiven except that which the divorced commit by remarrying. You can commit all kinds of sins, even be a child molester, admittedly a touchy subject, and you can remain in the club, so to speak (Note that clerical pedophiles are defrocked), but the divorced and remarried, well, they are just not eligible! It comes across as something like we are good, so we can receive, but you are bad and so you cannot. It seems to go against the teachings of Jesus who was always trying to draw sinners closer to Him. To me, this has a pharisaical feel to it, recalling that Jesus said to the Pharisees that you place heavy burdens on others with your rules, but do not lift a finger to help them. What help is given to these people, excluding them from the body and blood of the Christ? If the Eucharist is the heart of Catholicism, the decision that a group cannot participate in it effectively prevents them practicing their religion. They are driven away from God. This simply does not seem to be what God intends.

I know you will express your thoughts on this. Stay well and best regards,

Art

There are very real problems here, of course. The first problem is being hemmed in by Jesus as he answered the Pharisees in Matthew 19:8, “Because of your hardness of heart Moses allowed you to divorce your wives, but from the beginning it was not so.” Since Jesus does not leave any leeway, that presents us with the problem of a previous bond of marriage blocking the way to remarriage.

The only realistic solution to the many locked-in, baked-in problems of a couple settled in a new marriage is to attack the validity of the previous marriage(s) by finding grounds for an annulment of said marriage(s). That, of course, can be more than a notion, requiring much paperwork and witness depositions over the span of 6 months to a year. Ironically, the worse the previous marriage was, the more likely will there be grounds to declare nullity. Annual success rate is ca 79 %.

With 5.9 of the world’s Catholics, the U.S. receives 35,000, 60% of the Church’s total.

U.S. success with annulments has earned the nickname “Catholic Divorce.”

Other issues are painful but to no avail. As Art noted, being trapped in an ironclad box of one’s own choosing by ignoring the existing bond of marriage and taking on a new marriage reduces a couple to living in concubinage. Try nullity.

Yarborough asked Hayes how many inoperable vehicles were on the property.

"Assuming they're inoperable, I know they're unlicensed," Hayes said. "A few. And there's one parked across the street."

Hayes said there was also a motor home with an expired tag. Hayes said that he was uncertain if the truck parked across the street belonged to the property owner.

He also added that he was uncertain if the Mercedes or if the white truck were unlicensed.

Hayes said that two boats have been removed from the property, along with some of the "rubbish" Hayes previously noted in his report.

Hayes told the board that it is his opinion that the property is a menace.

Hayes said that he tried, on three separate occasions with police officers, to speak to the owner at his home, but no one came to the door.

Huffaker told the board that the red truck parked across the street from his property is licensed and belongs to his one of his employees, who parks it there when using Huffaker's work truck.

Huffaker said that it would be proper of Hayes to leave a business card if he did come to the property.

He said that his lawnmower had broken, but he purchased a new one and has been keeping his grass cut.

Huffaker said that he also cut back a bunch of trees.

Since then, he said, he decided to let the bushes grow up again to "shade the house" and work as a "noise barrier." He said the city came and bushhogged it down.

Huffaker said the mobile home is operable, but needs a battery and that the tag is expired. One of the boats is getting a tune up and is licensed. He said he sold the other one.

Yarborough asked Huffaker how many operable vehicles were on his property.

"I've got five people living in the house and everybody has a car," he said. "Personally, I have three. I've got the big white van, I've got my Mercedes and I've got a Porsche. My wife has a car, my two daughters have a car and my daughter's boyfriend has a vehicle."

Huffaker said that no one lives in the motor home.

Huffaker added that he does have a motorcycle and that "everything runs."

Yarborough told Huffaker that the motor home would be considered inoperable since it needs a new battery.

As far as overgrowth, Huffaker said, his wife often brings home plants and tends to them. But he said he keeps his grass cut.

Huffaker said he leaves home early in the morning for work and returns late in the evenings.

Huffaker said that he also doesn't know how

Hayes knows the vehicles are inoperable just by looking at them.

Hayes told the board that he has seen improvements at the property and is willing to work with the owner. He said he would set up a time with the owner to check to ensure the actual number of vehicle, and that the vehicles are operable and licensed.

The board took no action and will receive an update from Hayes at the next meeting.

The final hearing involved 5065 Tombigbee St. Hayes told the board that the property was overgrown. The owner was not present at Tuesday's meeting. Hayes told the board that the overgrowth needed to be cut back in order to become compliant. The board approved a motion to declare the property a menace to public health and safety.

In other action, the board approved several Planning and Zoning Commission items, including:

- A.J. Boudreaux's,

owner of 206 Sandy St., request for a conditional use for an accessory building containing more than 500 feet for the construction of a 750 square foot building.

- Janine and Michael Walsdorf's, owners of 115 Pine Ridget Dr., request for an 18-foot rear yard requiring a variance of seven feet from the required rear yard to build single family residence.
- Dana and Susan Hooper's, owners of property on Aiken St., request to allow a 13-foot rear yard requiring a variance of 12 feet from the required rear yard to allow the owners to preserve a large live oak in the middle of the lot and build a single family residence.
- Stephen Hartel Jr.'s, owner of 204 S. Beach Blvd., variance request. The purpose is to allow the creation of three lots fronting on S. Beach Boulevard and one lot fronting on Favre Street. "Parcel 'A' as proposed would have a lot width of 92.95 feet requiring a variance of 7.05 feet; Parcel 'B' as proposed would have a lot width of 93 feet requiring a variance of 7 feet; Parcel 'C' as proposed would have a lot width of 93 feet requiring a variance of 7 feet; and Parcel 'D' as proposed would have a lot frontage width of 20 feet on Favre Street requiring a variance of 80 feet." The board also approved a final plat that would divide the property into four lots.

The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 21 at 6:30 p.m. The board rescheduled its December meeting from Dec. 4 to Dec. 5 at 6:30 p.m. due to the municipal election.

ports, lawful permanent residency cards and valid immigration documents belonging to the plaintiffs and other occupants of their vehicle, threatened Marcos Martinez with the loss of his lawful permanent residency, made baseless accusations that the family was engaged in criminal activity and conducted an invasive search of the family's belongings -- all because he perceived the family to be Latino and of Mexican descent."

Stephanie Martinez and her children are U.S. citizens and her husband, originally from Mexico, is legally a permanent U.S. resident, according to the suit. Also traveling with the Martinez family were Marcos's mother, sister and a family friend, all of whom were also in the U.S. legally, the suit said.

"Although no evidence of illegal activity was found ... Latschar and other (Hancock County Sheriff's Office deputies) then transported plaintiffs to the HCSO, where deputies detained them for approximately two more hours and again searched their vehicle," according to the suit. "After witnessing her family members cry over the course of several hours, Stephanie Martinez called 9-1-1 from inside the HCSO and demanded her family's release. The family's lawyer also called the HCSO, challenged the legality of the family's detention and demanded their release. Only then did HCSO deputies release the Martinez family and return the passports, residence cards and immigration documents" that had been confiscated. "Following the June 3, 2017 incident, the entire family has become fearful and mistrustful of law enforcement," according to the suit.

"The Martinez children have experienced increased anxiety and fear when traveling. They have expressed fear that their father could be deported by law enforcement officers. ... Ms. Martinez has lost her peace of mind as well as her trust in law enforcement."

The plaintiff's are asking for a jury trial; unspecified compensatory damages for pain and suffering, emotional distress, mental anguish and/or related emotional damages; compensatory damages for "loss of freedom."

A lawsuit only represents one side in a dispute. Hancock County officials said this week they had not yet had the opportunity to review the allegations and file a response.

some clearing and digging," Favre said. "We can do some of it in-house, but a lot of it is too big of a job for our road and maintenance crews."

Blocked culverts and clogged ditches need cleaning in many areas, Favre said, to eliminate water back-up and street flooding in residential and commercial areas.

City council members said they would prepare their Christmas wish lists of city wants and needs and hopes to secure funding for it all, which may include a new bond for the new year.

In other action Tuesday:

- The city council voted unanimously to allow Mayor Favre to sign off on grant paperwork awarded to the city to help complete the city's Safe Way to School Sidewalk plan, connecting various streets with sidewalks in and around the schools and school complexes. Other sidewalk projects throughout the city are also included in the awarded funds such as the Washington Street area by MLK Park and Carol Ave.
- "We are still waiting on a few things but hope to get started on those as early as next year," Favre said.
- City leaders also entered into two separate executive sessions. One was to discuss pending litigation for a Civil Service appeal regarding former Bay St. Louis Police Officer Jeff Hendrix who recently retired.

Upon returning, a motion was made by the council to authorize the negotiations of a settlement. Although more details were not provided for the record, Favre said, "This is not a civil service ruling but yet an attempt to prevent and protect citizens from any future dealings as advised by counsel."

The second executive session was to discuss personnel issues. No action was taken upon return from behind closed doors.

Escape

Louis Police Department, Hancock County Sheriff's Office and Waveland Police Department responded to the area.

"At approximately 1:17 p.m., officers located Fucich, who had forced entry into a vacant business located at 621 Blue Meadow Road. Fucich was taken back into custody without incident and transported to the Hancock County Jail pending bond."

Fucich had initially been arrested on charges of drunkenness/profanity in public; contempt of court/failure to appear in both municipal court and Hancock Justice Court; and resisting/obstructing arrest.

Ponthieux said that officers also charged him with one count of escape and one count of commercial burglary when they recaptured him Friday.

Fucich was previously being held in lieu of about $2,000 in bonds, according to court records. Ponthieux said additional bonds will be set on the new charges.

White trout is better than no trout

SHORE THING FISHING REPORT

by Capt. Sonny Schindler

We have been putting up some big numbers of fish, when the weather allows. In between the cold fronts, our boats have been running south to the Louisiana Marsh.

Our deadliest weapon this past week, has been a boat Monkey popping cork, with two feet of 30lb leader. On the business end, we have been using soft plastic shrimp imitations like the Voodoo, or Live Target 3-D shrimp.

Our guides have been finding our best bites, drifting oyster reefs in about 2-

Don't let the bad weather scare you off of fishing -- there are still plenty of good catches out there.

4 feet of water.

When these bites get rolling, the big white trout eventually overtake the speckled trout. Some people turn their noses at white trout, but not us. We freakin love em!

We really like the every cast bites, when they school up. If you have never eaten white trout, you have no clue what you are missing. You just need to do a few things, to ensure your white trout is taken care of.

Some folks swear by keeping fish cool in an icy slush. Personally, I've never been a fan of the slush, I think it makes all fish mushy. I like fish (especially white trout) buried in ice. My fish box drains overboard, so I never have to worry about the slush.

When we get back to the dock, we like to keep the fish buried in ice while we are cleaning them. This keeps the fish firm and much easier to clean.

If you're eating your white trout fresh, you gonna enjoy it. If you decide to freeze them, I recommend freezing them in water.

The main thing you wanna do, to keep your white trout from getting mushy, is to NOT thaw them in them water. Just put em in a dry sink, or even better, in the fridge. When they slowly thaw, they stay firm, and are good as any other fish you'll eat.

There are no bag or size limits on white trout in Mississippi or Louisiana. Keep what you need, save a few for the freezer, and leave some for the next guy/gal.

As always, have fun and be safe.

Oyster season opening delayed in Mississippi

Officials with the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources announced Thursday that oyster season, which was set to open at legal sunrise on Saturday, Nov. 10, 2018, has been delayed due to rainfall exceeding the management plan criteria for conditionally approved waters in the western sound. The season will open when water sample results meet the management plan criteria.

Bay High football mentor Ben Foreman steps down

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

A little over a year ago, Bay High head football coach Ben Foreman was informed that he would no longer be the mentor of the program. But, that was before an outpouring of support for his reinstatement came from the students.

It appears now that Foreman has stepped down as head football coach according to athletic director Monty Noblitt.

In an interview with another local media source, Noblitt commented, "We did a full assessment of the football program over the course of the year. We met with Coach Foreman to discuss some of our concerns. Following our meeting, he made the decision to resign. We appreciate everything he has done. He has worked hard for our district and the students. We wish him the best of luck."

Foreman had just completed his third year as head coach of the Tiger program. He finished with a record of 3-27 overall and 1-14 in Division 8-4A.

The job opening was posted earlier this week with Mississippi High School Activities Association. The posting will remain on the site until December 5th. At that point, the school district will begin to compile a list of candidates for the interview process.

The Tigers last winning season was 2012 when Bay High finished with a 10-2 record and a trip to the Class 4A state quarter-finals under then-head coach Jeff Hopgood. Foreman was the defensive coordinator for the Tigers that season.

VETERANS DAY, FORMERLY KNOWN AS ARMISTICE DAY, WAS ORIGINALLY SET AS A U.S. LEGAL HOLIDAY TO HONOR THE END OF WORLD WAR I, WHICH OFFICIALLY TOOK PLACE ON NOVEMBER 11, 1918. IN LEGISLATION THAT WAS PASSED IN 1938, NOVEMBER 11 WAS "DEDICATED TO THE CAUSE OF WORLD PEACE AND TO BE HEREAFTER CELEBRATED AND KNOWN AS 'ARMISTICE DAY.'" AS SUCH, THIS NEW LEGAL HOLIDAY HONORED WORLD WAR I VETERANS.

IN 1954, AFTER HAVING BEEN THROUGH BOTH WORLD WAR II AND THE KOREAN WAR, THE 83RD U.S. CONGRESS -- AT THE URGING OF THE VETERANS SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS -- AMENDED THE ACT OF 1938 BY STRIKING OUT THE WORD "ARMISTICE" AND INSERTING THE WORD "VETERANS." WITH THE APPROVAL OF THIS LEGISLATION ON JUNE 1, 1954, NOV. 11 BECAME A DAY TO HONOR AMERICAN VETERANS OF ALL WARS.

IN 1968, THE UNIFORMS HOLIDAY BILL ENSURED THREE-DAY WEEKENDS FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES BY CELEBRATING FOUR NATIONAL HOLIDAYS ON MONDAYS: WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, MEMORIAL DAY, VETERANS DAY, AND COLUMBUS DAY. UNDER THIS BILL, VETERANS DAY WAS MOVED TO THE FOURTH MONDAY OF OCTOBER. MANY STATES DID NOT AGREE WITH THIS DECISION AND CONTINUED TO CELEBRATE THE HOLIDAY ON ITS ORIGINAL DATE. THE FIRST VETERANS DAY UNDER THE NEW LAW WAS OBSERVED WITH MUCH CONFUSION ON OCT. 25, 1971.

FINALLY ON SEPTEMBER 20, 1975, PRESIDENT GERALD R. FORD SIGNED A LAW WHICH RETURNED THE ANNUAL OBSERVANCE OF VETERANS DAY TO ITS ORIGINAL DATE OF NOV. 11, BEGINNING IN 1978. SINCE THEN, THE VETERANS DAY HOLIDAY HAS BEEN OBSERVED ON NOV. 11.

THE SEA COAST ECHO AND ALL OF THESE LOCAL BUSINESSES WOULD LIKE TO THANK ALL THE VETERANS WHO HAVE SERVED THIS GREAT COUNTRY.

Krewe of Olympus hosts Annual Derby

BY MARY ALICE SIERVELD,
KREWE SECRETARY

Hanging horses in the Emerald ballroom??? Yes, and horses on the tables and decorating the stage. -The ballroom was transformed into Diamondhead Downs, the site of the Krewe of Olympus 11th annual Derby night. It's our big fundraiser of the year, benefiting the Hancock Food Pantry. This super fun event was started by Don Kraemer and was chaired this year by Krewe President Betty Maxwell. Proud sponsors of the derby were Diamondhead Council Member Ward 2 Alan Moran,

North Bay Auto Center, Savoies Foods, Paulette Synder, realtor with RE/MAX, State Senator Philip Moran, and Olympus President Betty Maxwell. So what goes on at a derby in a ballroom?? Six jockeys lined up on the stage, and when two giant dice were thrown by the race's sponsor, the jockey would advance a space. The first one to move 10 spaces won the race. The fifth race was the Super Hero Race, run by male jockeys in capes! The sixth race was the Presidential Sweepstakes, run by the winners of the previous 5 races, who were Lenore Madden, Colleen Welch, Ja'net Bonura, Cassandra Godbold, and David Motz. The owner of winning horse received a monetary award and was declared the Overall Derby Winner. Ja'net Bonura now holds that title. So what's a derby without betting?? Rick Sierveld, our Pit Boss, and his hard-working staff, Kelly Kennedy, John McDonough, Sue Foster, and Katherine Larsen efficiently took the money from the eager betters. They changed real money for funny money, which they used to bet on each race. Winning and losing tickets were drawn at the end of the evening for fabulous door prizes. The 50/50 was won by Robin Meith. All of this frivolity could not have happened without the hard work of Chairperson Betty Maxwell, Music Man Doug Maxwell, Emcee Bobby Emery, Referee Paul Larsen, Chef Eli and his staff who put on a great buffet, and lots of prize donors. Olympus is the only Krewe that puts on a big yearly fund raiser. The event is open to Krewe members and friends and we welcome new members. We're a small Krewe and we like it that way! We treasure the unique events and customs that set us apart from the other Krewes. Call Membership Chair Mary Alice Sierveld at 363-1923 for more information.

2017 Disaster Program Deadline Approaches for Pearl River, Stone, Hancock & Harrison County Agricultural Producers Recovering from the Effects of Hurricane Nate

SEA COAST ECHO

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone County Farm Service Agency (FSA) County Executive Director Dirk Dedeaux reminds producers that the deadline to apply for assistance under the 2017 Wildfires and Hurricanes Indemnity Program (2017 WHIP) is Nov. 16, 2018. "USDA has been working hard to provide assistance to farmers and ranchers impacted by the 2017 wildfires and hurricanes," said Dedeaux. "I encourage producers who have not applied to contact our office by November 16 to make an appointment." The program was authorized by Congress earlier this year by the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018. Eligible crops, trees, bushes, or vines, located in a county declared in a Presidential Emergency Disaster Declaration or Secretarial Disaster

Designation as a primary county are eligible for assistance if the producer suffered a loss as a result of a hurricane during calendar year 2017. Also, losses located in a county not designated as a primary county may be eligible if the producer provides documentation showing that the loss was due to a hurricane or wildfire in 2017. A list of counties that received qualifying hurricane declarations and designations is available at <https://www.farmers.gov/recover/whip>. Eligibility is determined by Farm Service Agency (FSA) county committees. Agricultural production losses due to conditions caused by last year's wildfires and hurricanes, including excessive rain, high winds, flooding, mudslides, fire, and heavy smoke, could qualify for assistance through the program. Typically, 2017 WHIP is only designed to provide assistance for production losses, however, if quality was taken into consideration under the insurance or Noninsured Crop Disaster

Assistance Program (NAP) policy, where production was further adjusted, the adjusted production will be used in calculating assistance under this program. Eligible crops include those for which federal crop insurance or NAP coverage is available, excluding crops intended for grazing. A list of crops covered by crop insurance is available through the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Actuarial Information Browser at <https://webapp.rma.usda.gov/apps/actuarialinformationbrowser>. Producers will be subject to payment limitations based on their average adjusted gross income. Both insured and uninsured producers are eligible to apply for 2017 WHIP. However, all producers receiving 2017 WHIP payments will be required to purchase crop insurance and/or NAP, at the 60 percent coverage level or higher, for the next two available crop years to meet statutory requirements.

Producers who fail to purchase crop insurance for the next two applicable years will be required to pay back the 2017 WHIP payment. Each producer will be asked to provide acceptable production records which must be either verifiable or reliable production records. If a producer is unable to provide production records, USDA will calculate the production based on the higher of the producer certified production and the county disaster yield. Contact the Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone FSA office at (601) 795-4409 ext. 2 to make an appointment to apply. To locate your local FSA office, visit www.farmers.gov. Tilly, a 3 year old mixed breed, is a remarkably sweet girl, who has every reason to be dubious of humans, yet she truly loves everyone. She yearns to be petted and held, and she gives appreciative hugs and kisses to all. Poor Tilly was dumped by her previous owner in Shoreline Park, left to fend for herself and her 6 month old puppies. All four of her puppies were either adopted locally, or were transported to the Northeast via our Rescue Transport Program. So, now it's Tilly's turn to be pampered and spoiled. She would be a wonderful family dog, as she is super loving with kiddos of all ages. A single person or couple, or active retirees looking for a quiet, sweet-natured best friend would be a perfect match. We think she is delightful in every way, and we hold Tilly in very high esteem. We are unsure if she is house trained, but she walks well on a leash and harness, and keeps her kennel clean. She is awesome with other dogs, so she could easily join a home with existing pets. Come by the shelter at 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, to meet Tilly, and you'll know why we're crazy about her. Call 466 4516 for more information, and visit our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, to see more pictures of Tilly, and of the many other wonderful, adoptable animals looking for their forever homes.

ARE YOU A PERSON WHO CAN FORGIVE OTHERS? BY GARY ANDREWS

GARY@GADEVOTIONALS.COM

For many years I have been around family, friends, co-workers, church members, and others that seem to have a problem forgiving someone for their actions or words that have been said. For many of these people the unforgivable person has hurt them in some way or has an attitude of defiance that may be misunderstood.

There is no one on this earth that is perfect and that includes you and me. Even though we may be set in our ways doesn't mean that others that have different ideologies from us are to be judged and condemned by us. Even though we may read the Bible and believe that Jesus agrees with us, doesn't mean that we are not to act in kindness and love to someone else we disagree with. All of us need to remember that it is not Jesus agreeing with us but us doing the will and work of our Lord and Savior that is taught through His Word and through our prayerful communication with Him.

Because we are human we may find that forgiveness is not easy. We may have been hurt by someone, even our closest friend, because of something said whether it was in a jokingly way, in a way of trying to help us by stating a truth, or just in a way that is downright mean. There is an old saying that the truth hurts and many of us do not want to hear what the truth is. When we hear something that is true, even though we don't want to hear it, we are the ones that become belligerent, indignant, and unforgiving.

I remember a person who told his best friend about his child having a problem. This child was in her teenage years and creating problems for the ones she was staying with. Her dad traveled extensively and was only home for the weekends. The child was a product of a divorce and chose to be with her dad only to be left with another family during the week.

When troubled times arose for the child her dad chose her side of the situation instead of leaning on his best friend for the truth. This created a strained relationship for this friendship of over 20 years. Eventually the dad changed his travel habits and stayed with his daughter at home and learned the truth about the little trouble maker which eventually led to a strained relationship between dad and daughter for the next several years. The dad and his best friend did reconcile because the dad asked for and received forgiveness from his friend. I am not sure the daughter and dad ever came to reconciliation and now it is too late because the dad has gone home to be with the Lord.

If you are going through any period of forgiveness, doesn't matter why, go to the person that seems to be a problem for you and reconcile before it is too late. Whether you are right or wrong is not an issue. Friends are for a lifetime and issues come and go. Don't let some minute problem create stress and problems for you when all it takes to solve the problem is communication and asking for or giving forgiveness.

Always remember that when you plant forgiveness, you will reap reconciliation!

Students of Pass Christian Middle School and High School present the Live Oak Historical Cemetery Tours. Take a historically entertaining stroll through the colorful past of the quaint city of Pass Christian. Experience the majestic oaks and ornate headstone architecture while embracing local history being retold through the captivating lives of several residents buried along the route. The tours are led by capable students who regale the audience with interesting facts about days of old in the Pass as they make several stops along the path to be entertained by Live Oak residents sharing antidotes of their lives. Some of the highlights are the jazz funeral procession of Captain John Handy, the fateful duel between Michael Cuddy and R.W. Estlin, a roarin' good time at the Pass Christian Hotel, along with a tragic, heart-felt military scene. The tours involve 110 students portraying the personalities as well as tour guides. Last year, the tours had over 2000 visitors and hope to have that many or more this year. The students donated the proceeds to the tours to have a funeral carriage arch that graced the entrance of Live Oak reconstructed. Admission is $2. Children 10 and younger are free. This event is organized by Lori Fisher, PCMS Teacher of the Gifted. Night tours for the public are held from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and tours begin every 10 minutes.

Members of the Waveland Mississippi congregation of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints volunteered in Florida to lend a helping hand to those affected by Hurricane Michael.

For the past two weeks and this coming weekend, November 3-4th, Waveland volunteers join over 2,700 Latter-day Saints from 5 states chain sawing, removing debris, and comforting storm victims. Waveland volunteers know what it's like to be devastated by a storm, and remember when volunteers from other states came to their aid. Tracy Shields from Waveland shared,

"This was such a humbling experience to serve the people of Florida with my husband and oldest son. Having lost everything in Hurricane Katrina, we remember how exhausting it was to keep going and cleaning day after day."

85 year-old, Maureen Sexton, who rode out the storm, worried how she and her son could possibly remove the 11 downed trees on her property and her roof. She hugged volunteers from Waveland, Covington, and Amite who came to her aid and explained, "When you guys came, it was a blessing! I'm almost 85, and I am still here for a reason! The windows blew out, the bathroom skylight's gone, and trees are on my porch roof. I will never forget you!"

At a short church service Sunday morning for Latter-day Saint volunteers camping and serving in Callaway, Florida, President Aaron Hollaway, a Church leader of the Panama City Florida area, looked out and addressed the hundreds of volunteers from several states ages 12 to in their 80's dressed in yellow Mormon Helping Hands Shirts, and said "Yellow is becoming my favorite color." He continued, "We're used to being out on the other side of the service. Now, your names will be etched in our hearts forever, because of your service to our community."

Shields explained, "I know that there is no joy that can equal the joy of serving others, and I am so grateful to have been able to go and serve the families of the Panama City area." After Hurricane Katrina, Latter-day Saint volunteers from many states, including Florida, provided 48,000 man days of labor.

President Michael Dohm, the leader of seven area congregations of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, including Waveland, expressed, "The aftermath of Hurricane Michael has provided another opportunity for us to use our helping hands in an organized relief effort. I am so humbled by the willingness of our members as they put their lives on hold to go to the rescue of our neighbors in Florida.

These men and women as well as youth know firsthand what it is like to experience the devastation caused by these storms. So we come with our bright yellow shirts hoping to be a ray of hope to those in need with our attitude and with our labor."

LDS Charities continue to donate truckloads of food and supplies from its storehouses in Salt Lake City and in Atlanta, Georgia. Latter-day Saints Helping Hands Volunteers volunteer their time, travel at their own expense, and provide relief using their own tools if possible, including chain saws, trailers, trucks and more. Relief efforts will continue for several weeks.

The Great National Bird Debate!

Eagle or Turkey? What do you think?

Which would make a better _____ of the United States – a bald eagle or a turkey?

More than 200 years ago, the Founding Fathers wanted to choose an animal for the great seal of the United States. They wanted an animal that would _____ what the newly formed United States of America was all about.

For six years, _____ bitterly debated which animal would be the country's symbol. Finally in 1782 the bald eagle was selected.

Vote for the turkey!

Not everyone thought the bald eagle was the right animal. Benjamin Franklin thought the turkey was a better symbol. Franklin wrote to his daughter, referring to the eagle's "bad moral character," saying, "I wish the bald eagle had not been chosen as the representative of our country! The turkey is a much more respectable bird, and withal a true original native of America."

Vote for the bald eagle!

The bald eagle supporters finally had their way and it has been the national bird of the United States since 1782, when it was placed with _____ wings on the great seal of our country.

But, Ben Franklin's words remind us that the turkey is also a special creature. In truth, if someone calls you a turkey, take it as a compliment!
